Entries open from 1st December 2018 until the 29th December 2018.

Entries to be made online through the IPF Photographer of the Year (POTY) 2019 or IPF Nature Photographer of the Year (NPOTY) 2019 upload page.

Up to five entries may be purchased on the upload page for each competition (So someone who enters both POTY19 & NPOTY19 could potentially purchase ten opportunities to win the prize).

Winner will be announced on Sunday, 17th February 2019 at the POTY finals, Talbot Hotel, Carlow.

Winner will be chosen at random by the competition coordinators from the spreadsheet of participants compiled after the closing date.

If the winner is not present on the day, then the POTY/NPOTY19 coordinators will attempt to contact the winner through the details they gave when registering for the competition.

If after 3 weeks the winner has not made contact or arranged to collect their prize, then a new winner will be randomly selected from the database of entries.

There is no cash alternative to the prize.

The Photographer of the Year 2019 coordinator's decision is final.

Eligibility

Anyone may purchase tickets to support the cost of running the IPF Photographer & Nature Photographer of the Year competitions.

However, the current coordinators of the competition and current members of the IPF Council will not be eligible to win the prize.

In the event that the name of a current IPF council member is randomly selected, it shall be removed from the spreadsheet and a new random selection will be made until the conditions of the prize draw are met.
